

Beyond bundled.

RADICALLY DIFFERENT RETIREMENT TECHNOLOGY

What is a bundled 401(k) provider?

A bundled 401(k) provider integrates all key services—recordkeeping, administration, compliance, and investment management—under one roof. This means fewer vendors, less hassle, and a smoother retirement plan experience for plan sponsors and their employees. However, what's included—and how well it's delivered—differs significantly from one provider to another.

401GO goes a step further.

With its unique and proprietary technology, 401GO has created a platform that is conceptually different from every other retirement plan provider.

Rather than integrate key services with third parties, we bring them in house and provide them directly. Our focus on automation allows us to easily provide many services that others outsource.

Better tech. Less complexity.

More stable payroll integrations

Our streamlining causes communication with payroll platforms to be radically more efficient, with fewer errors and shorter downtimes.

More efficient upgrades

While others struggle to implement new legislation, 401GO is nimble. We are often the first to make new features available to clients.

Space for innovation

Since we are not bound by complexity, we are more able to innovate and bring new products, features and improvements to plans.
